

Paris, April 28, 2006

Freebox : Most Attractive Triple-Play Offer in the OECD

On April 25th 2006, the OECD published a survey on broadband “multi-play offers” available in its member countries. The study concludes that Free has the lowest priced offer in both nominal terms and using purchasing power parities, one of the highest download speed and a comparatively large number of video channels for a flat monthly rate¹.

This survey was compiled before the release of the new Freebox HD which further increases the technological and services gap between Free and its competitors. The Freebox HD, developed by Iliad's R&D team, features in-built DTT, Mimo Wi-Fi as well as HD TV capabilities. It is also a critical step in delivering quadruple-play services to Free subscribers.

The OECD report is available online at :

http://www.oecd.org/department/0,2688,en_2649_34223_1_1_1_1_1,00.html

The Freebox offer is subject to subscriber's copper line characteristics

Iliad is a leading player in the French telecommunications and Internet access industry via its subsidiaries Free (the leading alternative operator), One.Tel (a fixed telephony provider) and Kertel (the leading alternative prepaid cards provider), IFW (Wireless Local Loop). Founded in 1991, the Group employs over 1,000 people. Iliad is listed on Euronext Paris under the ticker ILLD.

¹ See table « Triple-play pricing with unlimited PSTN calling plans, September 2005 » page 20