Freebox becomes also a fax

A new fax number granted to all Freebox subscribers free of charge

All Freebox subscribers, regardless of their version, now have access to a fax service, free of charge.

With this new service, Freebox subscribers can send and receive faxes from any Internet connection (for example, on a trip abroad) even if a fax machine is not available.

This easy-to-use service is accessible online in the subscriber's account management interface.

A new fax number will be granted automatically to all Freebox subscribers free of charge. This fax number is determined using the last six digits of their Freebox telephone number. If the subscriber's telephone number is 095 B XXX XXX, the fax number will be 095 (B+5) XXX XXX.

The user indicates their contact person's fax number and selects the document to be sent. Once the fax is sent, the sender receives a return receipt by email. Fax can be received by Freebox subscribers in an email attachment (PDF format) or on their fax machine for others.

Fax services charges are applied directly to subscribers' Free broadband bills according to the Freebox telephone rates provided online. Faxes sent to 49 destinations, including France, are included in the fixed rate plan.

With Freebox, subscribers have two lines they can use simultaneously: one for the fax and the other for calls.

Offer accessible subject to approval of the general online sales conditions and the sending platform's capacity for using recognised PDF files.

Reception of fax from abroad subject to routing by local operators.

Tariffs as of February 2, 2007 available on www.free.fr

Freebox is available in mainland France subject to phone line eligibility.
