

Free Mobile Plan: 50 GB of 4G Internet

The best 4G fair use allowance in the market

Free has once again shaken up the French mobile market by significantly increasing the 4G internet fair use allowance under the Free Mobile Plan, from 20 GB to 50 GB (speeds reduced in excess of 50 GB). The price of the Free Mobile Plan – which is still a no-commitment plan – remains unchanged at €19.99 per month or €15.99 per month for Freebox subscribers.

This means that Free Mobile Plan subscribers now have the best 4G fair use allowance in the French retail market.

Free Mobile's 4G network currently covers over 50% of the French population, and the objective is to cover some 60% by the end of 2015 – 4 years ahead of the commitment given when it was awarded its license.

The new fair use allowance is applicable as from today for both current and new Free Mobile Plan subscribers.

The graphic is a white rectangular box with a red diagonal banner in the top right corner that says "NEW 50GB in 4G". Inside the box, the text is centered and uses a mix of black and red colors. It lists the price and commitment for the standard Free Mobile Plan and a special price for Freebox subscribers. Below the prices is a bulleted list of features.
